

World Economic Forum (WEF) and consulting agency ERDA invites companies operating in either Latvia or Lithuania to participate in the prestige labour market research

“Future of Jobs 2023”.

Future of Jobs survey is one of the most important labor market studies in the world and it aims to collect global labor market and current skills data.

The upcoming Future of Jobs Report 2023 will map the latest developments to support organizations in understanding talent gaps, skills churn and job displacements, both globally and within Latvia & Lithuania.

WORLD ECONOMIC FORUM

ERDA

See the latest “Future of Jobs 2020” report here:

After filling out the survey, you will have the opportunity to benchmark your organization at a global scale against the results in the Future of Jobs Report launched in April 2023!

We invite to participate companies which:

operate in Latvia or Lithuania (national and/or international)

&
have at least 100 employees.

Good to know:

- The target respondents of the survey are CEOs / Senior Strategists / HR managers of the companies;
- Only one response per company is required;
- Survey’s language is English.

Contribute to identifying trends in the labor market by sharing your company’s insights!

Thank you in advance for your valuable input!

If you have any questions about the participation, contact partner ERDA at annija.vitolina@erda.lv.

Apply to participate in the project here